

SCANLINES

A Publication of The Enright Company

8 second time-lapse photo of burning spinning steel wool – taken in a tunnel in the heart of the Prescott National Forest, AZ, by Logan Enright with Nikon D7100. Field trip with Prescott Photography Meet Up, December 2018.

Welcome to the final edition of Scanlines, the newsletter of The Enright Company, Professional Video/Multimedia Representatives
www.enrightcompany.com (714) 838-1900

NOTES FROM LOGAN

by Logan Enright, CTS - The Enright Company

As George Harrison said in his second solo album, All Things Must Pass. Welcome to the final edition of Scanlines, the almost quarterly newsletter produced since 1985 by your friends here at the Enright Company. Without getting emotional, let's call this the farewell edition.

Logan Enright
The Enright Company

After many terrific years, we are closing The Enright Company and this newsletter effective next week, December 31, 2018, We will keep our email addresses and web site active for the time being as a courtesy to all seeking assistance.

By introduction, I am the founder and owner of The Enright Company. We were the independent manufacturers' rep company for hundreds of companies over the years for the states of CA, AZ, NV and HI. We started with VHS video format and finished with 4K, streaming and video over IP.

We began in broadcast or teleproduction equipment sales, we migrated over the years, as did the integrators, mostly into commercial AV. I had the privilege of serving on the advisory boards for some key manufacturers, the Board of Governors of InfoComm and the board of the Southern CA Electronic Rep Association. A great field ours – I have always loved being in our industry.

We would like to thank all the people who have been with us over the years who have made this firm successful. We're grateful to our manufacturers, past and present, our dealers/integrators, our consultants, engineers, installers and customers of our firm for your undying support. We couldn't have done it without you!

This past quarter I have been in rehearsal mode for retirement and guess what? It's fun. Redirecting the burning in the gut that fuels successes is a challenge. One secret is that on many mornings I start the day watching a TCM classic movie, then get going.

Enright Company Fictitious Business Listing
Long Beach Press Telegram, circa October 1985

I recall the month we launched our firm, and the enormous amount of energy and drive it took to do all the things that had to be done. We started when business was conducted with stamps, envelopes and the newly popular fax machine. 70-hour weeks were the norm, then when Friday night arrived and there was no one left to call for business, I'd finally breath. I recall wondering how on earth I would be able to raise the energy to do it again next week?

Grateful that I can retire, I have a big palette of activities: music, photography, exercise, choir, painting and multi-track recording. I am not too worried about retirement restlessness – okay maybe a little. Will surely miss the day to day interaction with all of you!

Who knows, you might find me back in the AV industry if I get fidgety. Maybe as a writer, head hunter or consultant to emerging manufacturers.

Have fun, stay active, keep learning – we are in one of the most stimulating and vital of professions. Embrace the change and uncertainty it brings. Look me up if you are in Northern Arizona! Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!